An expanded statement of significance is given in the Boundary Markers of the Original District of Columbia Multiple Documentation Form.

The North Corner boundary stone was the seventh marker to be located in Maryland. It was laid in 1792. Its fence was dedicated on April 14, 1916 by the State of Maryland, Daughters of the American Revolution. (The North Corner stone is succeeded by Northeast #2 because Northeast #1 no longer exists. A plaque set in a sidewalk has marked the original location of Northeast #1 since 1960.)
